

Justyna Klejdysz

ifo Institute, Poschingerstr. 5, 81679 Munich, Germany
✉ klejdysz@ifo.de | 🏠 klejdysz.com

Research Interests _____

Public Economics, Behavioral Economics, Natural Language Processing

Education _____

Ludwig Maximilian University of Munich and ifo Institute PhD Candidate in Economics	Germany 2021–present
Erasmus University Rotterdam M.Sc. Econometrics and Management Science, cum laude	Netherlands 2017–2018
Warsaw School of Economics M.Sc. Quantitative Methods in Economics and Information Systems	Poland 2016–2017
Warsaw School of Economics B.Sc. Quantitative Methods in Economics and Information Systems	Poland 2013–2016
National University of Singapore Visiting Student	Singapore 2015

Professional Experience _____

Ministry of Finance , Macroeconomic Policy Department Consultant	Poland 2022–2023
Orange Innovation Poland , Data & AI Data Scientist	Poland 04.2022–07.2022
Ministry of Finance , Macroeconomic Policy Department Chief Specialist in Fiscal Analyses Division	Poland 2018–2021
Erasmus University Rotterdam , Econometric Institute Research Assistant to Prof. dr. Michel Van der Wel	Netherlands 2018

Publications in Refereed Journals _____

Shifts in ECB Communication: A Textual Analysis of the Press Conferences. International Journal of Central Banking, 2023, 19 (2), 473–542 (with R. L. Lumsdaine)

Working Papers and Work in Progress _____

Taxation and Business Entry: Evidence from the Polish Self-Employment “Flat” Tax. Working Papers Series of the Ministry of Finance of Poland, 2024 (with T. Zawisza). R&R at Journal of Public Economics

Speaking of Debt: Framing, Guilt, and Economic Choices (with C. Aksoy, M. Dolls, A. Peichl, L. Windsteiger)

Policy papers

Narratives in ECB press conferences: A textual analysis. EconPol Forum. Vol. 24. No. 1. Munich: CESifo GmbH, 2023.

Selected aspects of the Polish tax and social contributions system based on administrative data 2017 (in Polish) Ministry of Finance Essays and Analyses Series. 2021. (with P. Chrostek, editor, and M. Skawiński)

Financial support for families in Poland based on administrative data 2018 (in Polish) Ministry of Finance Essays and Analyses Series. 2023. (Justyna Klejdysz, editor, P. Chrostek, M. Skawiński, M. Najsztab)

Presentations

2025: UC Berkeley Public Finance Seminar (April)

2024: IFS Sector Seminar (June), CESifo Public Economics Week - PhD Poster Session (Munich, June), International Institute of Public Finance (Prague, 21–23 August)

2023: ZEW Public Finance Conference (Mannheim, 4–5 May), The 79th Annual Congress of the International Institute of Public Finance (Utah State University, Logan, 14–16 August)

2022: CESifo/ifo Junior Workshop on Big Data (Munich, 20–21 October)

2020: Why R? Conference, Why R? Foundation (online, 24–27 October): “R for public policy - Microsimulation Tax Model for Poland”.

2019: Justus Liebig University of Giessen (invited seminar, 21 November): “Shifts in ECB Communication: A Text Mining Approach”.

2019: Twelfth Annual Society for Financial Econometrics Conference (Fudan University, Shanghai, 12–14 June). Warsaw International Economic Meeting (Warsaw, 2–4 July)

Research Visits

2025/01 – 2025/04: UC Berkeley (Host: E. Saez)

2024/06: Institute for Fiscal Studies (Host: E. French)

Awards

2023: Stone Center Summer Institute on Economic Inequality, UC Berkeley

2018: Nominee Best Econometric Thesis Award, Erasmus University Rotterdam

2018: Team Award of the Rector of Warsaw School of Economics for Achievements in Scientific Area, Warsaw School of Economics granted for the book co-authored with Dr. Andrzej Torój et al. English title: Applications of econometrics. Ten harmless examples. Oficyna Wydawnicza SGH, 2017. ISBN: 978-83-8030-158-0.

2017: Finalist of the Econometric Game, University of Amsterdam

Software Skills and Languages

Software skills: R, Python, SQL, Google Cloud

Languages: Polish (native), English (fluent), German (intermediate)